celebrate we will 99

"Celebrate we will
Because life is short, but sweet for certain
We're climbing two by two
To be sure these days continue
These things we can not change...."
- "Two Step"
Dave Matthews Band

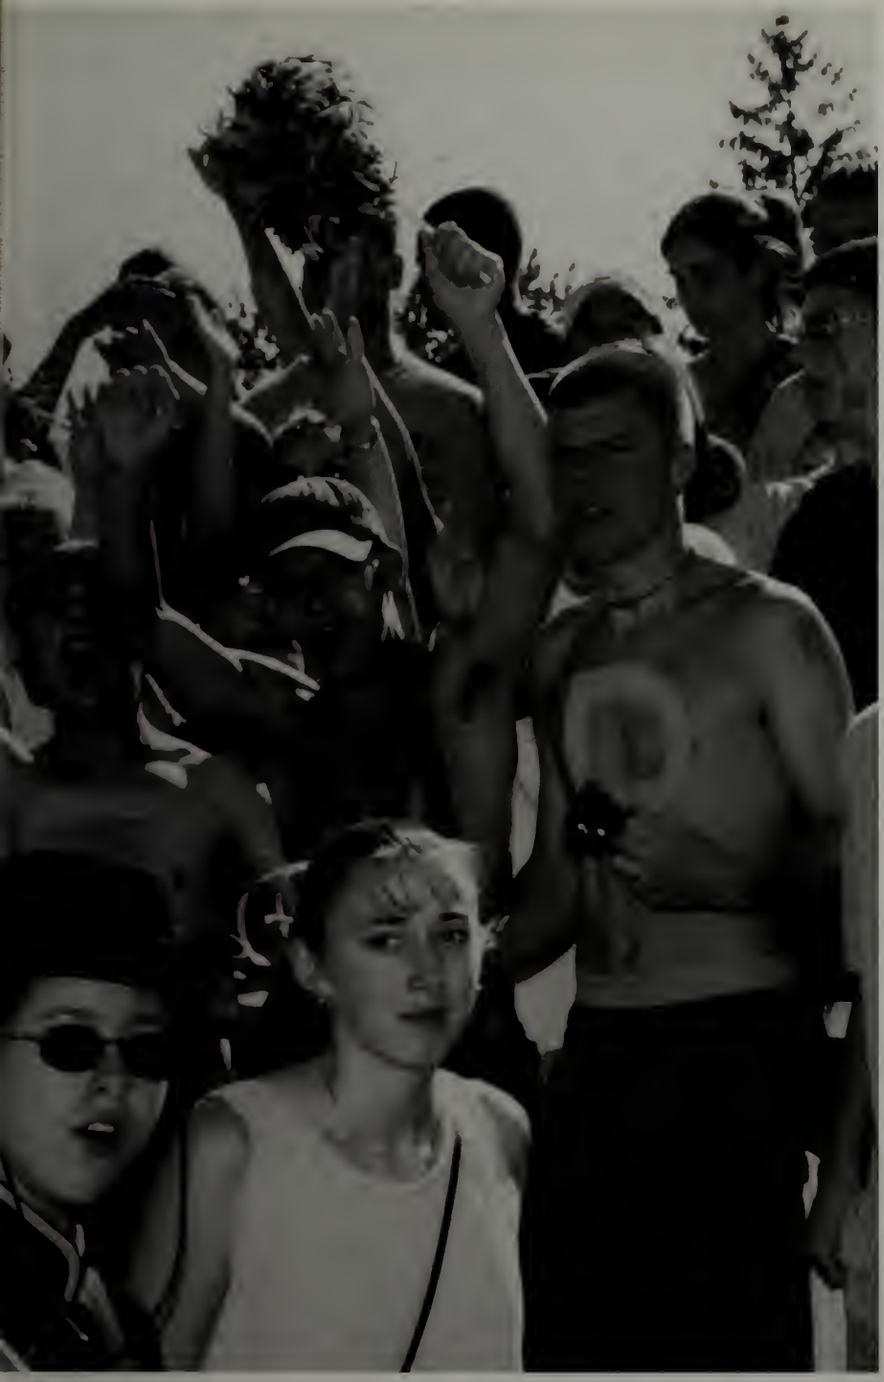
Having been picked as Comp's favorite band last year, The Dave Matthews Band's song "Two Step", on the album Crash, had a song that dealt with having fun, celebrating life, and living life to the fullest. The lyric "Celebrate we will" was developed into the yearbook theme based on the fact that the Senior's are celebrating their final year of high school, as well as graduating into the real world.

The lyrics hint at overcoming obstacles and being together with others, and that is something that most graduates want. They want to meet their friends again one day.

As we reach the millennium, we realize the world is changing fast, just like every one changes, and we are going to be viewed as the last class to graduate before the year 2000. We want to leave a good impression at the closing of this century.

The important part in the Senior year is to celebrate, which is defined as engaging in festivities. From cheering at the football games to dancing and having fun at the proms, we made full use of that term, and will use it at future reunions.

So when you remember the year 1999, don't remember it as being the year that the Seniors left, but remember it as a year of celebration. - Stephen Moreau,



Celebrate we will...our victories.

Celebrating life and friendship-- Jodi Higgins, Chris Danielle, Tricia Hay, Amber Patruno.

Powder puff pizzazz!

Talent, whether onstage or off, will be celebrated.

David Faretti expresses his approval; Bryan McGrath looks on.

DEDICATION

MR. PINCIAK

This year Memini is dedicated to a man with over 20 years of service to education in Chicopee. During his last four years, as principal, Mr. Pinciak could be found spending most of his waking hours working for CCHS. He was a tireless leader, and could be found in his office, in the building with teachers and students, and at most school functions including sporting events. Then the announcement came in October of 1998; he said: "My time has come to retire."

One main factor in making this decision was the critical two year report issued to the school by the National Association of Schools and Colleges. Since this is the year that another report has to be started, Pinciak felt "The person who starts it should finish it. It is in the best interest of Comp." The Association issued Comp a rare unconditional recertification-- a tribute to an extremely well run building under Mr. Pinciak's guidance.

There are also personal reasons Pinciak had for making this decision. "It was a very difficult decision, two years in the making. My wife had been asking me to retire for the past four years and now I've decided that the time has come."

In his opinion, his biggest accomplishment was "putting Comp in the lead as far as technology is concerned, giving students a chance to be technologically qualified."

Concerning his most memorable moment as principal, Pinciak could not find just one thing that stood above the rest. "There is no such thing as a most memorable," stated Pinciak. "Every graduation is memorable. Seeing troubled teens get diplomas brings tears to my eyes."

However, the highlight of his career was being appointed as principal. "It was a dream come true to become principal," said Pinciak. His main thrill is seeing kids succeed. When asked who the next principal would be, Pinciak replied, "I could not venture. However, I would like to see Mr. Kozikowski take over."

When officially retired, he plans to continue running night school and tend to home projects that have been put off. Pinciak had some final thoughts about the career. "These 30 years have been extremely gratifying and I thank God for the opportunity to do it." Although he will no longer be in the building during regular school days, he predicted, "They haven't seen the last of me yet."

CLASS HISTORY

Beginning of a Long Journey

Freshman Year

Every new day was the beginning of a new journey. New friends, new events, and the creation of new people. With each day of freshman year we began more and more to realize the changes that were occurring outside as well as within. Groups of friends began to meld together and our class for the first time was a whole-- the class of 1999. It was our first year of rallies, the first year of football games, the first year of being told that the pool is on the fifth floor, and it was our first year in HIGH SCHOOL. It was the beginning of a 4 year saga, a saga that will one day be told to our children and remembered always.

- Heather Carroll

Sophomore Year

The Class of 1999 entered its Sophomore year, not as fresh underclassmen, but as experienced students. We knew what to expect and what had to be done. What was unexpected was a whole week of fire alarms, the flood that wiped out our gym, and a delayed homecoming dance.

We celebrated the election of our class officers, Sara Peloquin, President; Shiloh Doyle, Vice-President; Angela Oyola, Secretary; and Jessica Muche, Treasurer. We were overjoyed to have Ms. McCarthy as our advisor, and most of us were happy to receive class rings. We felt like we finally belonged in the school.

But what every individual will remember is the fun time we spent with friends, whether it was at sporting events, parties, or just studying for Mr. Boulais's English tests. We celebrate the fun, we celebrate the good times, and we celebrate each other.

-Stephen Moreau and Marisa Beaudry

Still Travelling & Finding Our Way

Hey, hats aren't allowed in school-- Josef Barszcz, Matt Carney, Mike Clark, & Dayna Ferreira

It's what we do during lunch; we hang out in the hallway.

CLASS HISTORY

Help!, she's got me- Erica Burns and Beth Bruso.

"Professor" Williams.

Working hard or hardly working?- Amy Brunetti, Wendy Cote, and Matt Czerniak.

Grin and bear it- Alison Dahill, Nicole Poirier, and Alyssa Demers.

Clowning around the clown mural.

Continuing the Journey Together

Cheerleaders-- the spirit of the school.

Traveling Along As Juniors

Things are looking up- Marisa Beaudry, Melissa Siudak, Michelle Scott, and Sarah Knowles.

Sharing a little fruit by the foot at a rally- Tim Rzeszutek and Katie Fredette.

Takin' a little break from the stress of Chemistry- Dayna Ferreira, Craig Belanger, Beth Bruso, and Sara Roy.

Aren't they just adorable?- Amy Cote and Mike Clark.

Taneisha Luna and Latoya Bennett are all smiles today.

Almost twins- Sarah Dudek and Martha Boisselle.

A Step Ahead But Still Far Away

JUNIOR YEAR

When the cheerleaders called us the jolly, jolly juniors, who could disagree? Well considering most of us were eligible to get our licenses, we were officially upperclassmen, and college was still always away.

But we did have to deal with that dreaded test, yes the S.A.T.'s, and paying dues was the message Ms. McCarthy, our class advisor, stressed. Mr. Aickelin was named our other class advisor. We were told about our beautiful Senior week, and the Junior prom was great at the Colosseum. Hey where did our studies go??

But we were celebrating the graduation of the class of 1998. Remember how they camped out on the football field? Even though we didn't win the sword, we did take the Pacer's mascot head. Our class officers Heather Carroll, President; Russ Authier, Vice-President; Angela Oyola, Secretary; and Amy Cote, Treasurer stressed passing classes, so we would be able to graduate in one year. The message was, we were going to celebrate, but first we had to grow up.

Stephen Moreau and Katy Barnes

"Looking back on all the years.
All the smiles and all the tears
I never want those memories to fade
What we've done and what we can do
We search our whole loves for the truth for always and always." - Lyrics by MXPX

"Senior"- one word with seven letters, but who could have thought it meant so much? It was just a label that described the graduating class, but its impact was much greater than a word; it was something that would last in each of our minds and hearts forever.

With so many wonderful things we accomplished, who could forget the following? For one, we didn't lose the sword game; we tied it, but most of us demanded we keep playing. We filled out the senior wills, took the expensive class pictures, enjoyed the senior ballot, participated in Battle of the Band and Frolics, danced our last dance at the prom, and had a blast at the class field trip and senior banquet. When we put on our cap and gown, trying to hold back the tears and sobs, we would step up on stage, and receive what we had been waiting for-- a certificate that stated we had our whole lives ahead of us, and we are on our own.

The lyrics above summarize the drive to keep memories alive. Remember, we are a class of hopes, dreams, and determination, and we are, like Prince said a decade ago, going "to party like its 1999."

APPROACHING THE TIME

"Celebrating good times is what we do best", say Latoya Bennett, Sophia Wilson, and Alyssa Depelteau.

A little Senior hugging always helps us get through the day.

CLASS HISTORY

Finally in our Senior Year!

Michelle Scott & Melissa Siudak ask "don't you just love us?"

Rebecca Maynard & Darlene Darcy take a break from all that dancing.

Jeff Deren's dream come true--a kiss from Amy Brunetti & Shiloh Doyle.

The three amigos: Steve Major, Dayna Ferreira, & Erica Burns.

Steve Moreau with Anthony Delmonte.

"Dancing Queens" Nancy Hernandez, Karolina Kabala, Heather Carroll, Katie Fredette, Keri Nichols, and Alyssa Depelteau.

ARRIVING AT OUR DESTINATION

To the Class of '99

We know who we are. We are the champions, the dreamers, the lovers, the doers, the movers, the shakers

And we will rock you. Hard.

We were the children of the 80's with our transformers, our thundercats (Thundercats HO!), the smurfs, & Barbie

We remember a time before Barney, before Teletubbies, before Furbies before Tickle Me Elmos, before Saddam Hussein, before the Oklahoma City bombing.

In the past four years, we've grown from dorky little freshmen to big ruff and tuff seniors.

We've grown together; we've grown apart.

We've played important roles in each other's lives, and we may not even know it.

In June, we'll graduate, and we may never see some of our classmates again.

But that doesn't mean that we're not a family.

We're all connected in a fine web known as the Class of 1999.

The last high school senir class of the 1900's.

Who knows what will happen to us all in the 21st Century?

Anything could happen, because I know you.

And I know that when you put your heart to something, you can get it done.

Good luck, class of 99! With love.

Celebrate We Will

FROM THE PAST TO THE FUTURE

10th

Marissa Beaudry, Darlene Darcy, Melissa Siudak, and Sara Boyer relieve daily stress with a grin.

9th

Freshmen Amy Brunetti, Stephanie Dusseault, and Keri Nichols can't wait to grow up.

12th

Aryn Anthony, Maisha Craft, and Amy Cote enjoy the summer just before senior year.

"Every new beginning comes from some other beginning's end..." - Closing Time by Semisonic.

Those words echoed through so many seniors ears in the summer of 1998, but perhaps we didn't really think about what they meant. For Comp, it means celebrating the end of our high school career, a time of adolescence where you could still be a kid, go to your friend's house to study for a big test, or hang out at the Colt's sporting events to cheer them on.

Everyone should realize we are celebrating the new beginning of our college life or starting out in the work field, where the real world comes into play. Every year at Comp should hold a special place in the heart of each senior, whether it was starting out in a new school for freshman year of high school, playing sports and activities sophomore year, getting that license junior year, or celebrating conquering SAT's, college applications, and getting that all important diploma on graduation day.

Sara Roy- don't look now, but Mike Clark is on your back.

11th

Whatever your source of celebration, the Class History section gives us a chance to remember the laughter, the tears, and the triumph of a very difficult, wonderful, important time in any person's life-- high school.

Senior Celebrations come and go

Senior boys and girls gather for some kitchen love.

Homecoming Queen Angela Oyola and King Russ Authier pose for a qiuck candid.

we will celebrate

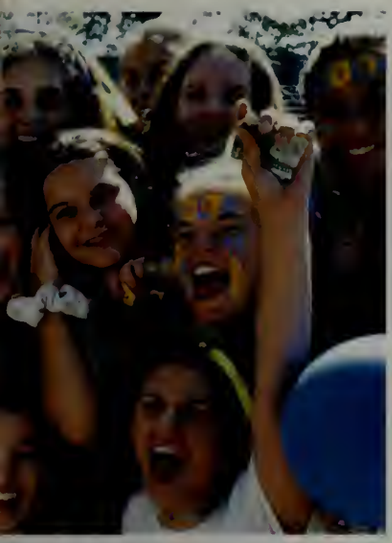
Spirited seniors go crazy as Comp ties High in their last year here., the first year the Colts did not lose to the Pacers.

When each of us timidly walked through the swinging set of double doors on the first day of freshman year, it didn't feel like we would ever be a part of a senior class that at that time towered over us. But now that our four years are completed and our time being those royal seniors has come and gone, it all seems to have gone by so quickly. For this reason, this transitional period brings a perfect opportunity to recognize our accomplishments as high school students and to reflect on the many memories we will carry with us for the rest of our lives.

Of course, the event most worthy of recognition by Comp's class of 1999 is graduation. Finally, four long years of hard work are paying off and this-without a doubt- is something to be excited about. Now is the time for each of us to break away from those secure high school existences and move out into society as full-time working people or college students, our diplomas proving that we are properly prepared to turn our goals and dreams into reality.

For the last graduates of this millennium, the future is now, and celebrate we definitely will.

Nelson Rodriguez stands smugly with everyone's favorite drag queens Donald Robert, Jason Williams and Russell Authier.



Who are the Nerds now ...UNDERCLASSMEN!!

Just warming up in the sun at a fire drill are Keri Nichols, Steph Dusseault, Jay Williams, Alyssa Depelteau, Russ Authier, Jess Muche, Judy Hamelin, and Erin Michaelis.

"Uh, Kristi Roberts, hello'"

Seniors crowding up the halls as usual.

"We've been really close friends after four years of high school despite our ups and downs in cheerleading." Melissa Fitzgerald and Katy Barnes.

Sara Roy explains here is a Mike Clark, and here's a Matt Carney. Any questions?

we will celebrate

"Let's get those Pacers," shouts Jeremy Bruso along with his friends Anthony Couture (12), Jeremy Olech, Kevin LaFlamme (30), Deshawn Westley (24), Christian Sullivan (99), Chris Malek, Josh Beauregard, and Matt Poirier (60) during the sword game at Szot Park.

Cheerleaders Jackie Hoffman, Amy Skorka, Robyn Gagnon, Tiffany Roberts, and Megan Grenier celebrate a happy moment at Szot Park.

What cute smiles- Juniors Timmy Kulig and Aleah Abert.

Sophomores Jessica Tanguay and Sara Griffin pose for a best buds pic.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Comp's underclassmen have a lot to look forward to for the remainder of their high school years. This year's juniors have senior year and all the excitement it entails right ahead while the freshmen and sophomores have a couple of school years left in which to partake in all kinds of memory-making events. Although a lot is currently unconquered, the underclassmen have made a great deal of headway on their high school journey and will likely find a great deal worthy of celebration in the coming years.

Homecoming queens Angela Oyola, Heather D'Amour, Julie Kukahiko and Megan Grenier are overjoyed after being crowned.

Freshmen

Jen Haley and Tiffany Roberts take a break after working hard in clay class.

Princess Hill, Jesse Holloman, Thomasina Holloman, Louis Torrez, Maria Cabezudo, Vinnie Moreira, and Justin Hill jump in for a group picture.

Mike Gay and Chris Feliton look like they just woke up after a long lecture.

"Aren't we cute," say juniors Mike Whalen and Sara Czerniak.

Hey, I'm the man," says freshman Jeff Goss as he enters the room with Tracey Guyette and Megan Grenier.

FACULTY

Social Studies pals take a break from busy schedules-- Mr. Czaporowski & Mr. Jendrysik.

Yes Mr. Moritko, you do have a better smile than the bear.

Collected in this section are the pictures of those most important people-- the teachers. We all have our favorites and....um, not so favorites, but all are an important part of the school that we can't do without. Lets face it, they have worked hard to improve our minds and characters. Any toughness comes from the desire that we live up to higher standards. They help us become the adults that we want to be. They have affected our lives in the greatest ways, and for that they deserve our biggest thanks. We will never forget them.

Looks like she's up to something-- Ms. McCarthy.

Teachers show school spirit.

Some teachers know how to "chill"-- Mr. Casolari.

Checking their notes- - Mr. Bowden, Mr. Midura, & Ms. Wilk.

Spontaneous show of affection-- Mrs. Starke and Jim Phillips.

Mr. Jendrysik praises Mr. Pinciak's hard work prior to retirement.

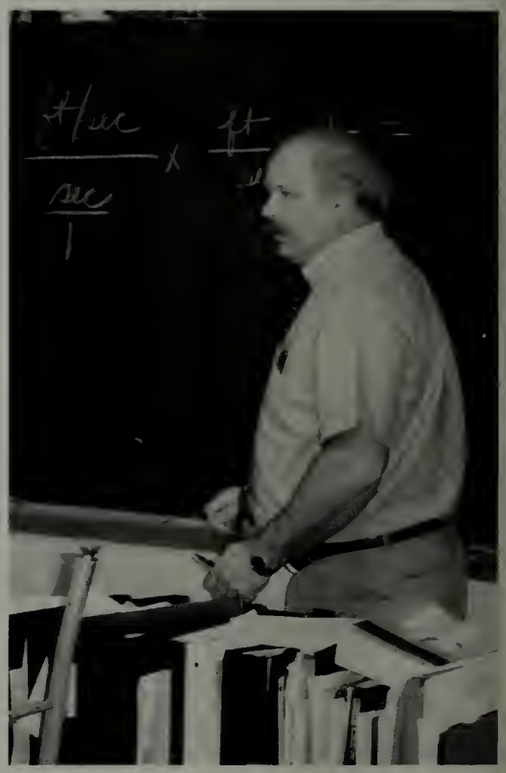
Principles of Technology

Students explore the topics of bore, rate, work and resistance in year I in relationship to the associated energy systems(mechanical, fluid, electrical, thermal). They expand upon these principles in Year II exploring energy, power, bore transformers and momentum. In addition to demonstrations, students use their math, design and problem-solving skills to complete labs which reintroduce the above concepts.

Teamwork, communication, and research skills are used throughout to emphasize principles and increase student employability.

Students compete in several different contests including Solar Challenge, Marlow Project, Bridge Building Project, Powerboat Challenge, Dune Buggy/ Tractor Pull Challenge, Holography Explorations, and CO2 Vehicle Competition.

Principles of Technology instructor Raymond Stadnicki explains an equation.



Seth Daviau intently jots down some notes during class.

Jeffery Beaulieu, Shawn Burke, and Bill Wilson look over a project.

Mike Lareau and Jason Fournier examine pieces of equipment.

Drafting Technology

Students begin their technical training in utilizing a CAD (computer aided drafting) system properly and effectively. Students create complex laboratory drawing problems using their drafting skill in projection view orientation.

Students learn different disciplines as they relate to the CAD industry. Architectural and Mechanical drafting are the core of the curriculum studied. Electrical and Electromechanical drafting are reviewed. Architectural drafting areas covered are floor plans, foundation plans, cross sections and elevation plans. Mechanical drafting areas include applied geometry, engineering materials, orthographic orientations, section views, auxiliary views, thread and fastener designs assembly and working drawings.

Bill Maxwell is having fun on the job judging by that smile on his face.

Hard at work, Heather Gondek prepares her designs.

Andrew Fredette concentrates mightly on his project.

ELECTRICAL
Wiring It Together

Electrical Exploratory students are in shop for five weeks. They learn how to make basic splices in wire and how to wire basic bell circuits. Electrical Tech. II students learn the proper methods of installing electrical conduit, service entrances, oil burners, electrical motors, and motor controllers. Electrical Tech. II students work in different parts of the school. They install and repair equipment in various shops and classrooms.

Assembling a light switch-- Jerry Rivera connects the wires.

Matt Guyette works low while Darrin Brealt works behind.

Getting ready to wire some boxes-- Mathew Rzwnicki, Adam Kochaniec, and Ben Medina.

Rising to the top-- Tom Robert gets the job done.

Hard at work in room 107-- Don Pride

ELECTRONICS

Checking the Circuits

11th and 12th grade students are learning about digital techniques and microproccessors. In addition to that, the students will get involved with fiber optics, and computer monitor repair. Students will be building computers, fiber optic connections and digital meters.

Jeff Boissonnault and Adam Chapdelaine work on robotics.

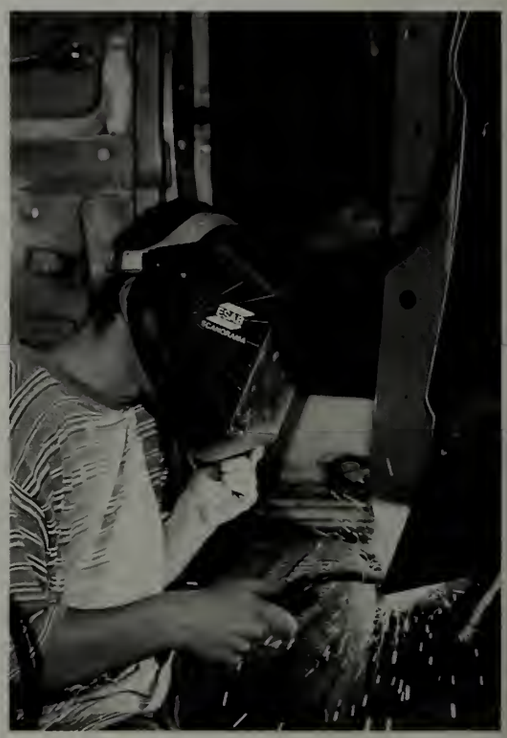
Collaborating on a project- Sarah Kazimierczak and Jen Kendall.

Automotive Collision Repair

Students learn all about hand and power tools, basic measurement skills, service manuals, fasteners, fine line masking tapes, surface mixing sticks, and paint matching. Other things studied include vehicle preparation, painting fundamentals, paint problems, final detailing decals, custom painting, trim, measuring vehicle damage, and frame-Unibody straightening.

As part of the work, students will do complete paint jobs. They will also use laser measurement systems and do vehicle construction.

Full of sparks, Roman Salagornik welds together the parts of a van door.



Preparing a van for more work, Danny Rogalski sands down the side of a truck.

Shaun Foley and Andrew Cote put the finishing touches on a nice looking car.

Fixing up the underside of a car, Jeremy Woods does what he does best, fixing people's cars.

Automotive Technology

Automotive Technology exposes students to all facets of the automobile during the program. In freshman year, safety in the auto shop, lifting a vehicle safely, dismounting and balancing tires, drum brake system repair, oil changes, and checking belts and filters are studied. As sophomores, students perform the following tasks on shop vehicles: cooling system repairs, tires and wheels, drum and disc brake service, exhaust systems as well as general vehicle maintenance repairs. In the junior and senior years, students are exposed to "live work" which is performed on customer vehicles and include the above mentioned tasks as well as internal engine diagnostic and repairs, transmission service and overhaul, electronics system diagnostic repair.

Carpentry
Building and Learning

By the time this class of Juniors reach its Senior year, the students will be competent in building houses and various other wood projects. Students learn how to use power tools, read blueprints, and build with wood. One of the projects completed early in the year was building a handicap ramp and a large sand box at Szetela School. Another project was making the replica of Chicopee City Hall. Also, students help build houses off campus.

Bruce Negron cleans the door vinyl.

Victor repairs an air filter.

Auto Reconditioning

Making It Shine

The Auto Reconditioning class emphasizes mastering the tools and chemicals of the trade, machine techniques, maintenance for finished vehichles, adding personal touches, car washing, and pinstriping. The students are also introduced to gas and "mig" welding.

Jon Hebert works on the tire wells.

Metal Fab/Welding

Training consists of T.I.G., M.I.G., and Arc Welding. These processes are used in the fabrication of cabinets, tables and ornamental iron work, and the repair of metal objects. The students work from blueprints or sketches to fabricate and weld various projects. Projects can be as small as an ornamental iron chain or table for dolls or as large as a picket fence.

Christine Barlow follows welding instructor Philip Gassnola's instructions.

Carefully grinding off the burrs, Chris Dybas does great work.

With a good eye and hard work, Dominic Marratha pieces together some ornamental iron work.

Jessica Hernandez readies for her next weld.

Machine I and Machine Tech

In Machine I, students are introduced to basic methods of manufacturing. By focusing on project based learning, required machining skills are learned and applied. Students learn to operate and set up a lathe, Bridgeport Vertical miller, jig bore, and surface grinder.

In Machine Tech, students apply applications learned last year in Machine I.

Students will learn CAD-CAM applications and apply by running CNC machines.

Students will learn how to set up a manufacturing process sheet and use inspection sheets to check parts.

Looking over her work with enthusiasm, Wanda Reyes shapes her part.

Concentrating on his machine, Billy Solley cuts his piece.

Mark Hnitecki and Steve Twining ponder what they will do next.

CULINARY ARTS
Cooking Up a Storm

In the Foods Production and Management Program the students acquire knowledge and skills required in the food service industry. The following topics are just a portion of what is covered: sanitation and safety, cooking techniques, menu planning, dining room service, and menu pricing. The foods production and management students participate in preparing basic foods, more elaborate recipes, and even gingerbread houses. The students are also involved with catering special functions that are held in our restaurant.

Checking the settings in the dining room are Jessie Holloman, Jennifer Beany, Rebecca Banning, Mrs. Kaigle, and Krystal Escobar.

Cheryl Slater rolls the dough with a cheerful look.

Jonathan Dulchinos pulls out a piping hot tray of desserts.

Jeff Cossaboom carefully weighs the ingredients.

David Oldrich changes the oil in the lawn mower.

LANDSCAPING
and Horticulture

In Landscaping, students learn skills in the landscaping and horticulture field. This includes the safe operation of equipment as well. Projects may take the students off campus and this offers them a "real world" experience. Students have worked on plantings and lawn establishment at Szetela school, helped with the courtyard project near the cafeteria, and worked on a retaining wall outside the machine shop. All students are now proficient on the hydroseeder, a new innovation in the turf field. While the Comp greenhouse is being enlarged and rebuilt, students learn about plant propagation, diseases, hydroponics, greenhouse management, and plant identification. They grow plants for different holidays, grow plants for the spring sale, learn the art of flower arranging, and go on field trips to learn about local businesses.

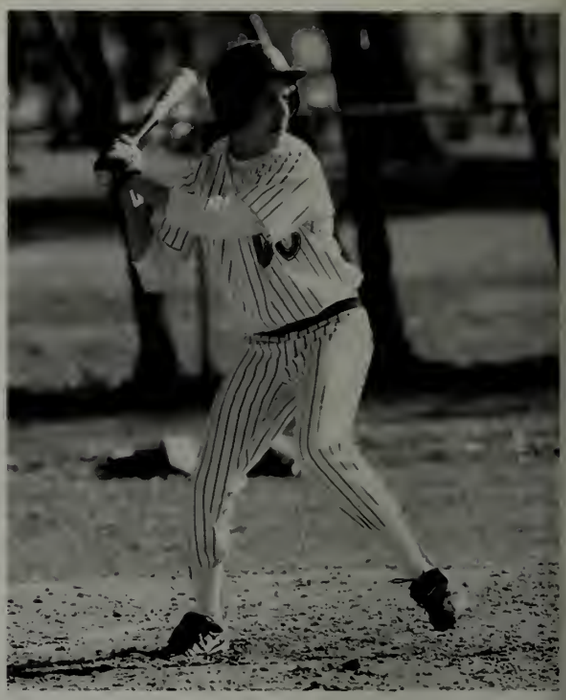
we will celebrate



Senior Jay Williams is ready to bring them home.

The 1998-99 sports season proved to be quite successful for some teams and not so successful for others. But each and every player -- no matter what the scoreboard happened to reflect -- was certainly victorious in some way. Small victories, like improving your foul shot after practicing for months or making the first touchdown of the season, are without a doubt worthy of reverie whether or not the team ended up making state finals. While paging through this collection of the season's memories, Comp's fine athletes and their dedicated fans can likely recount many goals reached and lesser publicized accomplishments to celebrate that in actuality, are often more significant than any trophy or title could ever be.

Enthusiasm combats a difficult year

By Melissa Fitzgerald

The 1998 Chicopee Comp football team faced a tough season playing tough opponents such as Holyoke, Central and Northampton yet the players played with heart and determination.

A highlight of the season was the infamous Comp vs High sword game. This season opener ended in a 20-20 tie, one of the best games in years.

Leading the varsity squad were co-captains Ryan Purcell, Don Robert, Tom Robert, Jason Slachetka, and Kevin Vaughn. These five seniors led the team along with head coach Wally Desautels, assistant coach Marc Shuerfeld, and JV coach Mike Donovan.

Despite the Colts 2-7-1 record, the exciting games always kept the stands filled with enthusiastic fans. The varsity team did prove that they had a winning attitude and never gave up.

Special mention should go to the freshmen football team who racked up eight straight wins before losing their last game to Central.

Varsity qualifies for WMass tourney despite low turnout

By Robyn Gagnon

The boys' varsity soccer team had a very successful season. After losing the first game, the Colts defeated Cathedral for the first time in at least seven seasons. Unfortunately, the game had to be forfeited due to an ineligible player.

Despite the forfeit, the team went on trying their hardest and eventually ended up 10-5-2 and qualified for the Western Mass. tournament.

Captain Jeff Deren said, "We had a very special season, especially after all the problems that our team had to face. Winning our division showed just how good we were."

Dave Gadouas added, "We played hard all season. I just wish we could have done better in the tournament."

"I came to Comp because I heard that they had a good soccer team. When we won our division, I knew my expectations had come true," said Krystian Derda.

The team achieved the success despite low numbers, playing some games with just 12 players.

"Oh, did you want the ball?" Krystian Derda uses some fancy footwork to evade an opponent.

Varsity pulls together for a positive season

by Kimberly Fontaine, Stephanie Gazda, and Nicole Poirier

The girls' varsity soccer team struggled as a young team with only six juniors and seniors and a total roster of 24 players. A large number of the freshmen and sophomores had to step up and play against older and more experienced teams. Together the team continued to meet the challenges they faced with a spirit that would make any school proud. The team pulled together as the season went along and the girls increased in skill and confidence. Both the offense and defense worked hard and always maintained a positive attitude.

Their hard work and determination paid off in a an undefeated season against Chicopee High. The first game ended in a tie and the girls earned a 2-0 victory in the second contest.

"The team is young and building towards the future," said varsity coach Jim Mercer.

"Our season was a learning experience," said Amanda Roberts. "It taught us what we need to know and how we need to improve,"

This win finished the season on a very positive note and the tri-captains Kimberly Fontaine, Melissa Deroy, and Sara Gilpatrick wish next year's team the best of luck

Gymnasts flip through exciting season

By Liz Viets

Looking back at the beginning of the season, the girls knew they had to work hard. Not only did they do that, but they had fun throughout the year as well. Through good times and bad, the team was there for each other.

The team came along way since the first day of practice. Tri-captains Darlene Darcy, Judy Hamelin, and Melissa Siudak, under the fine leadership of coach Sandi Barrett, encouraged the team by their spirit, determination, and dedication to the team.

The team could always count on senior Judy Hamelin, and sophomore Liz Viets, the two all-around competitors to finish strong. Also senior Melissa Siudak pulled high scores on floor because of her great leaping ability and senior Angela Oyola always brought a smile to the crowd with her floor routine. Senior Darlene Darcy and sophomore Megan Doray kept their balance on the balance beam while sophomore Jen Hawkes had great power on the vault. Senior Danielle Samson flew through the bars. Although many of the freshmen had injuries during the year, they showed a lot of potential and techniques were being developed which could be used in their coming years.

The team showed great spirit throughout the season and they finished it off with a exhibition show on which the girls worked very hard. Freshman Heather McGrath, after being out all season with a broken foot, came back and put on a really great show.

It was a tough road, but the team qualified for Western Mass. They placed 6th out of 7, beating the champions from last year. Captain Darlene Darcy will always remember that particular Western Mass, because it was that day she won " Senior Gymnast of the Year" award. Overall the year went well, but most importantly, the girls had fun.

Injuries cause rebuilding year; Young runners step it up

By Chris Spano

It was a rebuilding year for the boys' cross country team. The team was plagued by injuries and lack of depth. Perhaps the biggest loss was the injury to captain Joe Jubinville who was sidelined for most of the season with a knee injury.

Sophomore Kyle Chagnon really stepped up this year for the Colts.

"He did a great job this year for us, and showed tremendous potential for the future," said Jubinville.

Comp finished the season with a 4-10 record.

Senior Jared Pare said, "Even tough we had injuries, we had four newcomers who ran in the top five for a good part of the year."

Girls run hard for X-country team

By Amber Bartosz

The girls' cross country team had a good season this year. The team consisted of Dayna Ferreira, Jill Parè, Amber Bartosz, Rhea Abert, Sarah Stefaniak, Jessica Stawarz, Mary Kate Nichols, Christina Jodoin, Karen Geung, Naomi Quesnel, Cheryl Celatka, and Heather Wenninger. Coach Neil Martel completed his fourth year of coaching.

Coach Martel summed up the season's events in one word, "run." Captain Dayna Ferreira commented, I thought our team was really close, and even though we're small, I thought we did really well."

After running hard for half a season, the girls notched their first win against Holyoke, 22-35. Freshman Wenninger finished first with a time of 19:52 at the Chicopee State Park course. Abert finished third (24:51), Pare fourth ((24:52), Bartosz fifth (25:41).

The team had a new star runner, Wenninger, who ran an average of 21 miles per week.

First year member Bartosz said, "This was my first year running. I liked it and had a pretty good time."

Quesnel, a three year participant said, "I love running and we have a great time."

Karen Geung strides on in mid-race.

Golfers cope with loss in stride

The golf team had a season that was marked by disappointment since they didn't qualify for the Western Mass. tournament.

Senior captain Greg Folsom said, "This season was a letdown in that we didn't make the Western Mass. tournament."

The team got off to a good start but ran into trouble during the middle of the season.

"A sluggish middle part of the season hurt us and we didn't qualify for the tournament," explained Justin Franczek.

However, not all was bad. Jarrod Goss said, "It was a fun season."

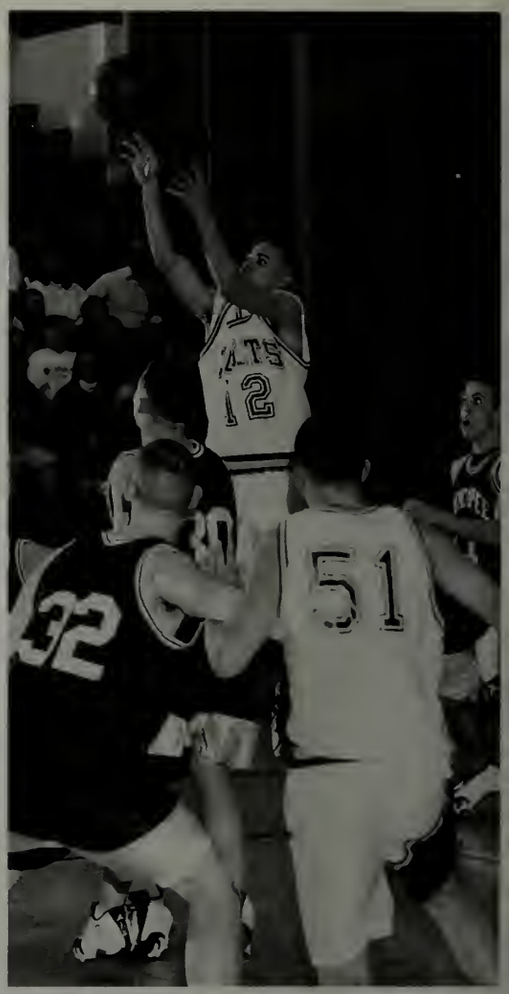
Hard work propels boys basketball to tournament

By Kim Lawrence

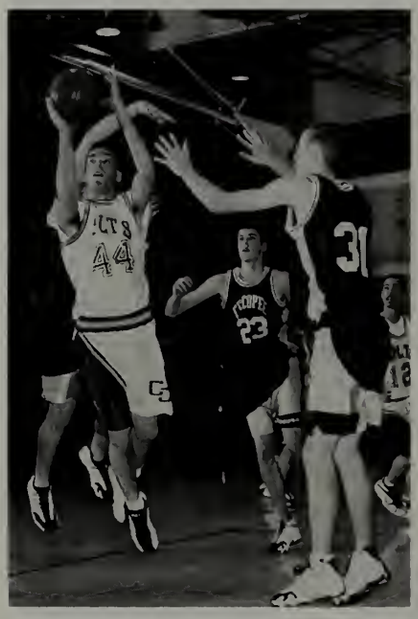
The varsity basketball team has had an outstanding season with a perfect 12-0 record in the Suburban League and a Western Mass tourney berth, the first time in 10 years, where the team reached the semifinal round.

The team felt that they came so far because of the hard work put in at practice. There was no superstar on the team either. Everyone worked well with each other and got along well, another important factor to the team's success.

Luis Villalongo was the team's leading scorer and considered as the go-to man on the team. Seniors Villalongo and Brett Nichols were the captains and helped their team to a number of victories.



As usual, Luis Villalongo effortlessly lets loose a jump shot.



Senior Brett Nichols (44) flies past the Chicopee Pacers.

Girls team better than record shows

By Jeff Deren

The Chicopee Comprehensive High School girls' varsity basketball team finished their season with a 6-14 record.

"It was a disappointing season for us. We thought we should have done better in our division. Our record doesn't show how good of a team we really were. We lost every close game which could have gone either way. Maybe it just wasn't our lucky season," stated Sara Breault.

Senior tricaptain Teneille Hill said, "Everybody worked hard in our practices but when the game started things just didn't want to fall our way. Overall, I was disappointed because I don't think we did as well as we could have or as we should have done."

Comp hopes to have a more successful season next year with a strong core of players including returnees from this year's team.

Comp hockey contends for Fay Division Crown

by Sara Griffin and Mark Maciolek

The Chicopee Comprehensive hockey team played a long and grueling season. Moving up a division was a big step, but Comp took that step and made many more.

Led by the goaltending of senior Mark Donnelly and the goal scoring of sophomore Greg Danis, Comp made a run for the Fay Division crown. Greg was leading in points in the Fay Division and was second in Western Mass. With the experience of seniors Jon Kubik and Anthony Aube, and the leadership of junior Chris Galindo, Comp got back out at longtime rival Chicopee High by beating them 6-2 in the last game of the season.

Under the coaching of Roger Bowden, the Comp hockey team finished 8-9-3 and came up one point short of making the Western Massachusetts Division 3 tournament.

Other players that contributed to the team were juniors Tim Kulig, Tim Fournier, Joe LaPlante, Chris Campbell, Dominic Morratta, and sophomores Mike Abbott, Scott Martin, Jeff Godek, Jay Zak, Jarrod Goss, and Mark Maciolek. All and all, Comp's hockey team played a great season and will miss outstanding goaltender Mark Donnelly, and defensemen Jon Kubik and Anthony Aube.

Ski teams slope competition

By Stephen Moreau

The boys' and girl's ski teams lapped the competition to ski a very successful year under the direction of head coach Steve Lemanski. Boys captains Steve Major and Tom Robert, led the team to a third place finish, while Darlene Darcy, girls' captain, helped the girls to a fourth place finish.

"We did rather well overall," exclaimed Major, a senior. "Our team effort was a major force in competition. What makes the season even better is we have a stronger, younger team waiting in the wings to conquer the league next year."

"I had a hell of a lot of fun. We did good, everyone got along well, and we all worked hard. This was my first year on the team, and I learned a lot about racing, and by the end of the year improved significantly," explained senior Bryan McGrath.

Senior Darcy expressed a positive view on both teams. "We had to have had the most fun out of all the teams competing. Our enthusiastic team spirit showed among the other schools when we cheered each other on." Darcy tied for second place in the All State Skiing for C Division.

Danielle Brouillette, who has skied with the team all four years, summed up, "We took responsibility for everything superbly. We all were very helpful and thoughtful towards each other and everyone looked out for one another."

Boys' swim team gets better with experience

By Robert Barabani

The boys' swim team was very small in numbers this year with only seven guys on the team. Two were newcomers freshmen Mike Carney and Robert Dout who both did very well this season.

Sophomores Mike Padden and Ricky Gadoury improved a lot in their second season with the team. Juniors on the team were Jesse Johnson and Dan LaFond who also enjoyed good seasons. Robert Barabani was the lone senior on the team and also had a good year.

Even though the boys lost most of their meets, it wasn't a lack of talent it was a lack of numbers. Carney, Gadoury, LaFond, and Barabani all went to the Western Mass. in the 200 IM relay and 200 freestyle relay. Gadoury and Barabani also went to the Individuals Western Mass tourney with Gadoury swimming in the 100 backstroke and 100 breaststroke while Barabani raced in the 50 freestyle and 100 backstroke.

Girl swimmers overcome injuries for fantastic season

Despite many obstacles (bad back, appendix, etc.) the Chicopee Comp girls' swim team pulled out a fantastic season finishing 7-5-1.

Captains Annie Boutilier, Kate (Katja) McLean, and Dayna Ferreira kept spirits high with such mottos as "You can do it," "This is ladies' night," and "1,2,3, So let it be!"

All three girls swam their best during the season and remarked that "We'll miss each other and the whole team very much."

Even with a small number of girls representing Comp in the Western Mass. championships, the girls came in third overall, beating rival Westfield with a first place in the 200 yard freestyle relay and a fourth place in the 400 yard freestyle relay.

Coach Donna Kenneson commented, "I am extremely proud of my girls. Everyone worked hard and, most importantly, encouraged each other to do their best."

Sheer enthusiasm propels cheerleaders to new heights

By Melissa A. Fitzgerald

The cheerleaders, lead by Janice McKenzie, started their season off with a bang. They returned to National Cheerleaders Association (NCA) Summer Camp, July 15-18 at Westfield State College, where They returned home with trophies and awards for Chant Champs, Super Spirit, Best at Camp, and a bid to the NCA Nationals. Katy Barnes, Stephanie Dykes, Melissa Fitzgerald, Robyn Gagnon, Jackie Hoffman, Tiffany Roberts, Jessica Tanguay, and Melissa Viens received the All-American Cheerleader Awards.

The official cheerleading season began on February 20, when the varsity cheerleaders traveled to Dudley, MA to attend their first competition. They placed second in the Co-Ed division. The competition season continued with competitions at Comp, Chicopee High, Greenfield, Somerville Bartlett, and Lowell.

Co-Captain Katy Barnes stated, "Throughout this entire year we have been perfecting our skills to compete against some challenging teams. We went through some hardships towards the end and though we might not be able to get where we worked so hard to be, but by finding the motivation within us, we got a routine together and hope to have a successful year!" stated Barnes

While the varsity squad endured hard times, the J.V. squad, lead by Charlene LaPlante, stood tall, despite downfalls. Although the J.V. decided not to compete, they made the varsity and coaches proud, showing their dedication. The J.V. squad members are Amy Barrett, Maria Michelakis, Danielle Robitaille, Elizabeth Dawson, Megan Grenier, and Krista Trench.

The extra curricular activities at Comp always reach new and exciting heights. But this year, not only did we add new and exciting clubs, but all of them succeeded in competition, as well as achieving many awards and praise.

The Student Council, after much reconstruction, received a new advisor, Mrs. Susan Feyre, added a governing board, received much praise for its Anti-Violence campaign that garnered over 700 pledges of students who vowed to remain violence free for the school year, and came together to organize a dance for students unable to make it to the Cotillion.

The Peer Mediation group received kudos from Team Harmony, a conference of violence-free schools, when they were chosen as one of the finalists for a special award that shows excellence in promoting positive influence over the student body in keeping discrimination away from students.

The Academic Decathlon received 12 medals and placed fourth at competition in November. Advisor Stefan Czaporowski lead the team to victory. New clubs like the Art Club, Renaissance Festival and Diversity Committee, Club are gaining huge numbers of students, even though they are just starting out.

Drum Major Geoff Howard holds his Senior flower in the hopes that his last game will be his best.

But its clubs like Yearbook, Debate, Multicultural, Peer Education, SADD, National Honor Society, and Drama continue to work hard and excel in each of their specified areas, as well as influence other students to strive for excellence in what they believe in. That has to be the most important about joining any one of these fine clubs-- to find what you enjoy, continue to try your best to succeed in it, and one day celebrate the fun that lasts in your memories forever. - by Stephen Moreau and Geoff Howard

ACTING OUT IN SCHOOL

Projecting lines. Stephen Moreau draws a confused look from Erica Burns.

The drama club is a popular extracurricular activity here at Comp. Ms. Field does a truly professional job advising the club and directing many of the productions. Students learn all aspects of theater including memorizing lines, staying in character, blocking, projecting the voice, and being natural yet effective on stage. These pages show typical rehearsals in progress. Actors are directed through the blocking, that is, positioning and movement of the stage. Students experiment with different ways of delivering lines, and they learn to take their cues from other performers. Students not in the scene watch with keen interest. This rehearsal is for a mystery or "whodunit" which will be performed in the spring of 1999.

What's a Celebration Without Music?

First, I would like to thank Ms. Robinson for her help and encouragment over the last few years as she expanded the Music Department here at Comp. We will miss her, but wish her well at her new school. The Chicopee Comprehensive Music Department is an important, active, and versatile activity here at Comp. The department, made up mainly of four groups: Concert Band, Marching Band, Chorus, and Colorguard, centers around just one room-- the band room. The band room has become a hangout, meeting-hall, and sanctuary for each of these groups. As I look back on four years of participation and leadership I feel privileged to have participated in this department as a member of the Concert Band. I feel privileged to have been the Drum Major and leading the Marching Band on all of its field shows and statewide parade competitions. I have only one regret at graduation time, namely, that I will not be able to continue participating in a group of improving musicians and a growing musical program that will become the envy of the state given the fact that these four groups give one hundred percent each and every day.

This year's NHS had a total of 92 members. There are 39 seniors and 53 juniors. This year's induction ceremony was held on December 8, 1998. The officers are: Darlene Darcy, President; Sophia Wilson, Vice President; Amy Cote, Treasurer; Nancy Hernandez, Secretary. NHS members chose this years guest speaker, Alfred Pinciak, who gave an exceptional speech about role models and how the true role models are teachers and parents. Students on NHS meet rigorous academic standards including at least an 85% cumulative average and must express specific qualities of leadership, scholarship, character, and service. Some special events sponsored by the NHS this school year include the blood drive, a candy sale to raise money for scholarships, and the A-athon which benefits a charity.

A WHOLE

NEW CELEBRATION

MISSION STATEMENT- We, the members of the Chicopee Comprehensive High School Student Council have made it our mission to make the high school experience of each student a positive rewarding and entertaining one. We strive to achieve this goal by operating fund-raisers, sponsoring community service events, and planning engaging activities. We believe that school should not be about going to class and getting good grades, but becoming involved in the school and community, and having fun at the same time. We pledge to organize activities, events, and functions that are meaningful, beneficial, and entertaining to both the students of this school and the community as a whole.

Even though Ms. Kervian has left Comp, she still comes back to party with Student Council.

THIS YEAR - Student Council started with new faces, new ideas, and new beginnings. Mrs. Susan Feyre has begun her adventure as Student Council advisor now that Ms. Kervian has left to take another job. Officers for this year's Student Council were chosen by Ms. Feyre according to merit and expressed interest on the part of the students. New positions, such as marketing advisors (who work on the public relations in the media) were added to this years roster. A new section, the Student Council governing board, is responsible for coordinating projects and meets weekly. The student council as a whole meets weekly. This years major project for the student council was the Antiviolence Campaign. Over 730 students signed a pledge promising to stay violence free. Mayor Kos visited the school and declared November Anti-Violence month at Chicopee Comp. Mrs. Feyre seems very enthusiastic about working with council members who display a positive attitude and are so committed.

Mr. Stachura' s fourth period publications class has been assembling the award winning Comp Chronicle with hopes of higher readership and more in depth features. Mr. Stachura preps his classes in the essentials of writing a good story, making headlines, designing a page layout, and doing good investigative journalism. He takes pride in the new format the Chronicle has which changed its overall format to that of a full size newspaper. Mr. Stachura said "...in terms of quantity, we came close to other high school papers in Western Mass, but in terms of quality, we're right up there, if not ahead of others." Editor in chief, Heather Walczak, commented "We had a plethora of fresh ideas, a new staff, and an excellent collaboration with the Chicopee Register, a new local paper, that has expanded our reading population." Mr. Stachura added, "We had a great new format, some very interesting articles, and a good balance of news and sports."

People Who Made It Great

The making of a yearbook is a fun but stressful time for all especially our co-editors Stephen Moreau, Corrine Dumont, and Sarah Knowles who came up with our theme: "Celebrate We Will." Also, how can we forget our advisors Mr. Stachura and Mr. Brown who sometimes stay after three or four times a week for up to three hours and sometimes more when deadlines are near? This year's Memini had a rough start getting enough advertising to afford color pages, but the yearbook staff all worked together and pulled through. Also, this year's yearbook has more underclassman pages which help us represent the whole student body. Although we have just as much coverage of Seniors as before, Memini has become more of a book for the whole school.

A group of committed Students Against Dangerous Decisions make up SADD. These students take time out of busy schedules to promote the message that life is more important than drinking and driving and other self-destructive behavior; in this way they help us at Comp. to celebrate life. Peer Education is a group of students concerned with educating their peers about real-life dangers one might face while growing up; they honor education. Peer Mediation aspires to promote a harmonious atmosphere for students at Comp. The mediation program has been extremely successful because of the dedication of a growing number of students trained in mediation. With special thanks to Mediation Coordinator Mr. Larkin, they help us honor harmony.

Your Individuality

A relatively new addition to the Diversity Club is an offshoot, The Gay-Straight Alliance which was formed at Comp for students who are gay, lesbian, or supportive of those who are. In order to get an inside view of this group, I interviewed its faculty advisor, Miss Morrison.

Q: What exactly is this program about?
A: It is about providing a safe haven for students to talk freely about their feelings and experiences. It gives kids who are questioning their sexual preference a safe and supportive place.

Q: What kind of reaction have you received from the public?
A: We have received a very supportive response, nothing negative.

Q: What are the future plans of the group?
A: We would like to do some programs within the school to help combat homophobia. In May, the group will be going to the Youth Pride march in Boston.

The Gay-Straight Alliance's goal is to help reduce anti-gay violence, harassment, and discrimination in accordance with state law which mandates a safe learning environment for all students.

STUDENT LIFE

Student life involves friendship-- Janelle Parker and Meredith Walker.

Student life extends beyond the walls of COMP-- Mathew Huard and Martha Boisselle.

Captured on film while taking a bite is Mike Clark-- student life occurs in places like the cafeteria.

Our lives as students encompass not only many events but many relationships. One important kind of relationship is with our friends; another is our relationship with our teachers. An additional aspect of student life is our environment-- the places that make up COMP. I bet most of you haven't been to all of the places in this there are Other building. additions new student to our age in- life cover- pages on clude ing indi- celebrat- expect- viduality, unex- ing the pected, and a survey of student opinions. As we interact in today's society, as a student as well as a young adult, we leave our individual mark. As we grow together, we become eternal friends. As we interact with teachers, we learn. These are just a few examples of the lives we live, day in and day out-- the lives of students-- our student life.

The exiting multitude.

Student life is exemplified by the individualism of people like Sarah Dudek.

Expect the unexpected-- Mickey and the gang alias Rick Gouin, Dave Gadouas, Russ Authier, Geoff Howard.

Student teacher interaction is part of the routine for Mr. Bellefeuille and Steven Dygon Jr.

Whistle while you work. Student life involes raising money for everything.

So Many Places

Steve shows his admiration for Dayna Ferriera while Robert Barabani and Erica Burns mock Brian Dietter during an everyday drama moment in the auditorium.

Mike Clark, Tricia Hay, and Sarah Fitzgerald bounce over the net of the tennis courts near the lower parking lot.

Discovering new and exciting things in the locker--sophomore Sara Griffin.

Cafeteria food is very nutritious, as demonstrated by several students who prefer turkey dinner to beef and bacon burgers.

Several Compaccino's employees onjoy a meal for lunch, in our school's own restaurant.

Have you gone to the extreme? Even to auto body?-- Mr Augusto

SIGHT SEEING

Mike Clark and Christine Major make a killer connection with the public phones that now cost 35 cents.

A TOUR 'ROUND COMP
AND RELATED AREAS....

Hey do you remember where we used to hang around in the hallways?? You may remember next year, but 20 years from now? There are so many places in this school; maybe it will be hard to recall where you quenched your thirst at a water fountain , or where your gym class played tennis. Some of the places people often forget are the gym, the busy main intersection, and the narrow book-stuffed lockers. So celebrate the mundane places that will some day be distant memories. - Steve Moreau Telecom students say their favorite part is the bus ride home...others may disagree WOO WOO!

All On The Job

Getting in a good stretch before practise- Trainer Debbie Coutu and Dan Lague.

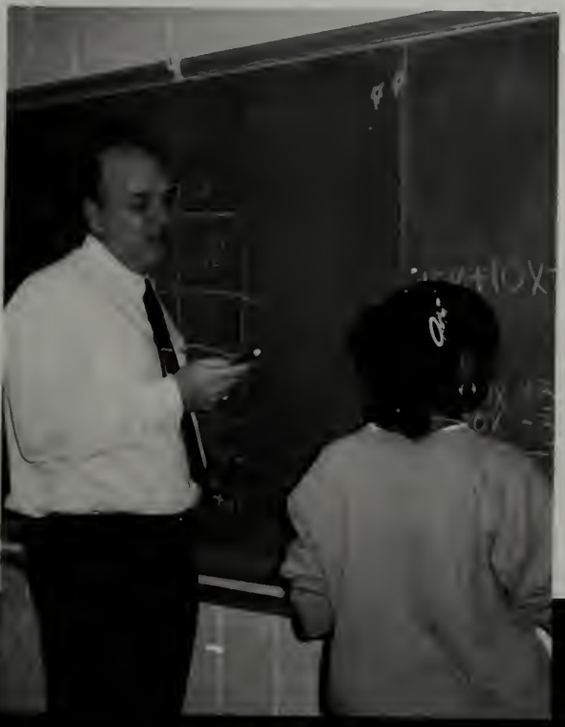
Giving extra help in math or just writing on the table?-- Mr. Casolari and sophomore Ryan Tellier.

Student - Teacher INTER ACTION

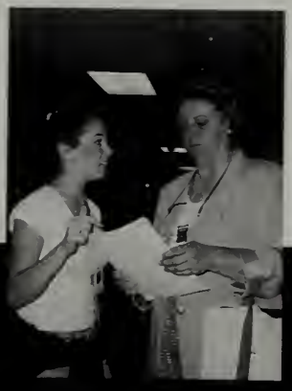
"So what is the density of ice, Russ?", asks Mr. Osetek.

See those pearly whites-- Ms. Dold and Steve.

Factoring equations...everyone's worst nightmare: just kidding Mr. Kendra.



A rough draft is closely scrutinized-- Erica Whalley and Ms. Wilk.



Interaction is the basis of education

Who is your favorite teacher and why?

Jessica Muche says: My favorite teacher would definitely be Mr. Candon. He's one of those teachers that thinks he's Mr. tough guy, but deep down inside he's a real sweetheart. I love him.

Sara Roy says: My favorite teacher is Mrs. Fahey. She's silly and can make me laugh, but she also knows when it's time to work and makes sure we get it done. You can joke with her like a student.

Steve Moreau says: Ms. Szostkiewicz has got to be one of the smartest teachers I know. Not only can her witty one -liners keep the class in stitches, she has a proufound teaching style all her own.

Gettin' down in the chemistry lab-- Mr. Sweeny and Dayna Ferriera.

What a dynamic combo!-- Erica Burns and Ms. Fahey.

FAVORITE WEEKEND ACTIVITY: HANG OUT WITH FRIENDS / PARTY.

OTHER FAVORITES

SUBJECTS: HISTORY & MATH

MOVIE: ARMAGEDDON

BAND: DAVE MATTHEWS

FOOD: PIZZA

BOOK: CHICKEN SOUP FOR THE TEENAGE SOUL

Together year round-- Naomi Quesnal, Amy Kukahiko, & Tricia Hay.

The Telecom ladies-- Jess Tanguay, Brianne Laflamme and Melissa Domingos.

A main ingredient to the happiness of life is friendship. Friends are the sunshine on a dark and gloomy day. They are the key to our life. They are there to hold you up when you find it difficult to stand. They laugh with you, cry with you, and help you through all the obstacles life presents you. They are the shoulder to lean on, the light in the dark, and keepers of our secrets. They are the most honest and truthful ones. They help you to find your place in this crazy world and never leave your side. All they ask for in return is your friendship also.

As we go through high school, we will meet many people. Some you would like to remember and those you would not. The true friends you will find will be those that you can turn to down the road. Those who will never let them go. The ones you hold on to will make these the best four years of your life.

- Tricia Hay & Jessica Fitzgerald

Displaying Senior beauty-- Keri Nichols and Alyssa Depelteau.

A common Bond

est friends Amy Brunetti, Shiloh Doyle.

Kindergarten through Junior year as friends-- Nikki Guilbert & Jessica Fitzgerald.

Old friends are the best friends-- "Steph" Dusseault and Tim Rzeszutek.

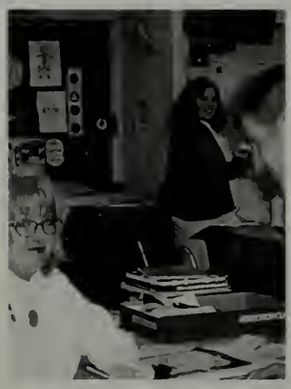
Celebrating friendship-- Amber Patruno and Jody Higgens.

"Who says I'm shorter?"-- Tenielle leans on Angela Oyola.

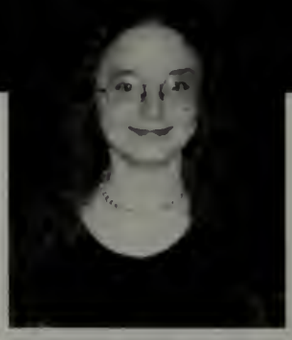
FRIEND-SHIP

INDIVIDUALITY

Quietly different- Jamie Losty.



Not your ordinary teacher- Ms. Fahey.



Yona McPherson- an individual who lives life to its fullest with controlled energy.

Nicole Brouillette and Sophie Pise are colorfully different.

Decidedly different

James Bouchard, "hippy freak" of the 90's; definitely one of a kind.

LIKE EVERYONE ELSE....NOT!

Cathy Carlisle, besides strong opinions and gregarious moods, says that which makes her an individual is "the ability to sit on an active canon and smile."

Celebrate Uniqueness.

Colin Fitz-Gibbon, famous Comp individualist.

An artist with her own way of doing things- Kim Such.

Celebrate Time Together

At 4 months of dating, Nicole Rosinski & Russ Authier.

Jesse Desrochers & Kim Cook have been keeping the love alive for 5 months.

Andrea Boutilier & Shaun Barnes don't kid about going out for 10 months.

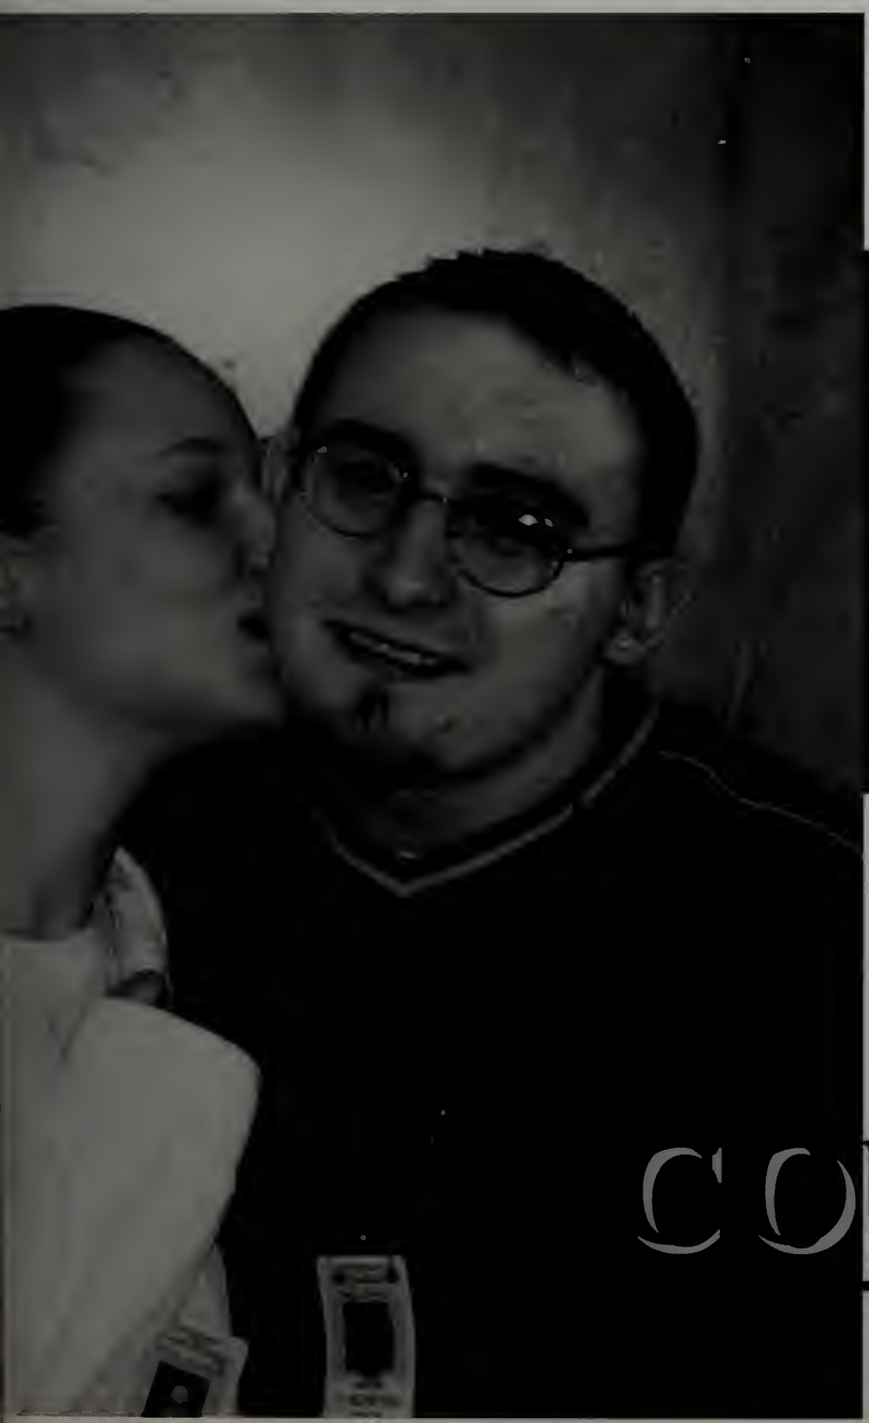
Sara Roy and Bobby Gilliam are still together after 1 year 5 months.

HIGH SCHOOL ROMANCE

Caitlin Lord & Chris Daniele celebrate a year and 2 months at the WARP tour.

Graciela Rodrguez & Robert Barabani have been dancing and dating for 5 months.

Dan Greenwood & Jessica Tyler smile about their 4 months.



Melissa Siudak & Ryan Purcell snuggle in at about 8 months.

COUPLES

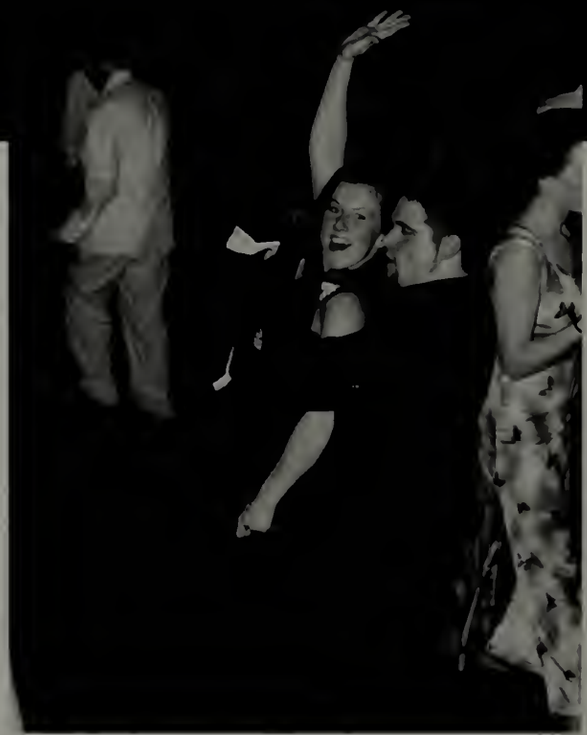
Nicole Poirier and Jason Slachetka are kissing about 3 years and 10 months!

Senior Memories of...

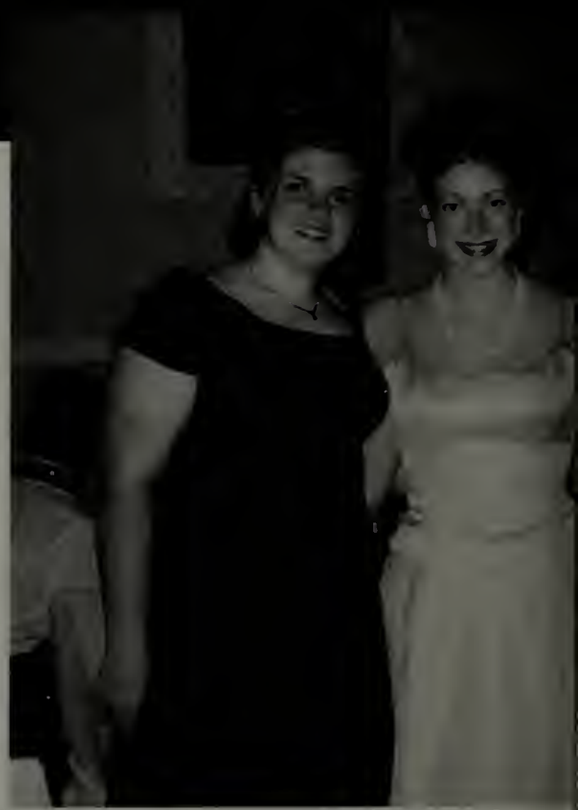
Clapping to the music at the Cotillion-- Ms. McCarthy, Keri Nichols, & Stephanie Dusseault

Chris Pepin & Kim Fontaine slow dance at the Junior Prom.

Friends at the Cotillion-- Joe Barszcz and Bryan McGrath.



Karolina Kabala & Jeff Durand boogie the night away at the Cotillion.



Showing off the Junior Prom fashions-- Erica Burns and Dayna Ferreira.

Dancing The Night Away

Senior girls tire after a long night of dancing at the Junior Prom.

Mike Clark, Joe Barszcz, Matt Huard, and Steve Major all agree that their boogie nights are over.

Looking Back ...Junior Prom, etc.

The seniors are all smiles at the Junior Prom.

Celebrate The Memories

Juniors Tricia Hay & Naomi Quesnel are together again.

Who's down with OPP?

Meghan Grenier and Joy Cote.

Juniors at the Cotillion.

Chris Nally says "Ahhhhhhh"

Ms. Parczych & her Junior posse.

Katie Fredette & Karolina Kabala on the dance floor.

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER.

Caitlin Lord & Chris Daniele: cute, cuddly, & happy together.
